

Who We Are

The Friends of Churchville Nature Center is a supporting 501c3 educational nonprofit dedicated to assisting the Churchville Nature Center, a facility of the Bucks County Department of Parks & Recreation, in its mission. That mission is to instill an awareness and appreciation of the natural world in all people through education, and to encourage responsible environmental stewardship with a commitment to the preservation of resources and wildlife habitat. We seek to inspire all those who visit us to join in support of this mission all while having fun!

As a member of the FoCNC, you can immerse yourself in everything we have to offer. You'll receive special discounts and free programming throughout the year as well as the knowledge that you are directly supporting the center and all that it does.

Members are a part of an ever growing community that celebrates the long history of the conservation, preservation, & education that has been the backbone of the Churchville Nature Center for well over fifty years. Your support directly helps our cause and reinforces our resolve to provide meaningful, quality public programming, and passive outdoor recreation for all Bucks County residents and the community beyond.

The FoCNC Annual Report & By-Laws can be found on the CNC Website under the About Tab.

With your help we ...

Protect over 65 acres as preserved native habitat for local wildlife and plants

Educate over 15,000 children annually from across our region in environmental science, ecology, & Native American culture

Engage the public through outreach to foster responsible stewardship & preservation

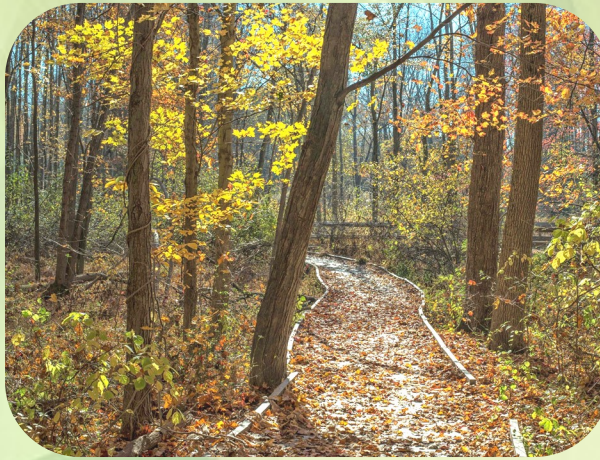

Create beloved attractions like the Janet V. Mickiewicz Native Butterfly House, the Lenape Village, & the Marlin D. Corn Wildlife Gardens

Maintain over two miles of hiking trails. Live animal exhibits, and an assortment of educational displays.

Provide exciting public programs and events like the Rock & Mineral Expo, Maple Sugar Day, Holiday Craft Fair, Arthropalooza, & the World of Weather Weekend.

Offer a place for everyone to escape, reflect, and relax in the beauty of nature.

Support conservation efforts & studies that help the monarch butterfly and other wildlife.
